Directions:

1. Ask kids to start by sharing some things they are thankful for. Point out if they mention something on the Bingo word list provided, but also encourage them to think of things that aren't on the list as well.
2. Have kids cut out the word-pictures on page 2 and glue 24 of them in the boxes on their Bingo sheet. They should have 5 unused words leftover.
3. Ask kids to mark the middle "free" space in whatever way you choose. They could draw an X through it or use torn bits of paper, pennies, dry noodles, or other small items to mark spaces.
4. You can cut the words out and draw them from a hat or pan if you like, or you can just randomly call out words from the list. Have kids mark off any spaces that contain that word.
5. Instruct the kids to call out "Bingo!" when they have marked 5 spaces in a row, vertically, horizontally, or diagonally. Ask each child to pick one item from their board and share why they are thankful for that item.
